THE THEME

It's easy to become complacent about life, our faith and our commitments when we are caught up in the demands of daily life. As we approach the end of this liturgical year, we are called to pay attention to what really matters. Today's readings remind us to focus on the bigger picture of eternal life and to question our focus, our energy and how we use our resources. We are called to look away from the superficial and to remember that time is not unlimited. We do not know the day nor the hour when we will be thrust into eternity. How are we preparing for it?

THE READINGS

WISDOM 6:12-16: The call to be attentive to wisdom.

1 THESSALONIANS 4:13-18: Paul speaks words of hope to the Thessalonians.

MATTHEW 25:1-13: A parable on being prepared for what is to come.

From Fr. Peter's Desk
32nd Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Parish Family:

Our First Reading from the Book of Wisdom speaks about corrupt kings and princes who have failed to heed God's word. After reprimanding the leaders for oppressing the lowly and judging unjustly, the author of Wisdom exhorts them to find Wisdom. Wisdom is always present to instruct those open to learning her ways.

In our Second Reading from St. Paul to the Thessalonians, we hear St. Paul focusing on the end time, when Christ will come again. Paul thought that Jesus would come again in his lifetime, so he dedicated much of his proclamation of the Gospel to how Christians were to live in the interim period, between now and then. In this reading, Paul tells the Thessalonians that at the second coming, those who have died in Christ will rise with Him, followed by those who are still alive. Then all will live with the Lord forever.

Today's Gospel is the parable of the foolish and wise virgins. It is a parable about the kingdom of heaven and who will enter and who will be left outside the door wanting entrance. Jesus' point in telling this parable is for us to be prepared to enter the kingdom of heaven. Will the Lord know us? Will we know the Lord?

My dear brothers and sisters in Christ, as we move toward the conclusion of the church year, our liturgies make a decisive shift. Our readings focus more on the end-times. Today's Gospel is clear: Stay awake and ready yourselves for the coming of the Lord. As we gather today, let us pray that by our attitudes and actions, we will eagerly welcome the arrival of the Lord in our everyday lives and thus wisely prepare for his coming at the end of time. On our final day here on earth, may we be found ready for the coming of the Lord and on that day, God's promise will be fulfilled: eternal life for those who put their trust in God.

God Bless You All,
Fr. Peter
