THE THEME

God rules history and can even use legitimate authority and hierarchical systems that benefit others, as the Emperor Cyrus rebuilt ancient Israel coming out of captivity. We acknowledge that we are members of a civil society governed by authority deserving of its just due. But, as Christians, we are bound by a higher authority, one that calls us to love of God and love of neighbor.

THE READINGS

ISAIAH 45:4-6: I am the Lord and there is no other.

1 THESSALONIANS 1:1-5b: The Gospel does not come to us in word alone.

MATTHEW 22:15-21: Give to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God.

From Fr. Peter's Desk 29th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Parish Family:

Our First Reading from Isaiah teaches us that God's ways are always surprising. The choice of Cyrus to be God's "anointed one", was astounding and taught Israel that the Lord alone is God; there is no other.

Our Second Reading from Paul to the Thessalonians is the beginning of St. Paul's first letter to the Thessalonians, an epistle that deals with the return of Christ at the end of the ages. As in Isaiah, it highlights the centrality of God. St. Paul gives thanks to God as he recalls the Thessalonians, who were loved and chosen by God.

The way that the first reading and psalm highlight the sovereignty of God, prepares us to hear the Gospel in which the disciples of the Pharisees and the partisan of Herod seek to entrap Jesus. The question that we are left with is if God is sovereign, as today's readings from Isaiah and Psalm 96 proclaim, then what belongs to Caesar and what belongs to God?

My brothers and sisters in Christ, today's readings serve to remind us of the truth that our God is all-powerful, outranking any human system or structure. This frees us from the temptations and constraints of power and control.

God Bless You Always,
Fr. Peter
